

Reports Pay Off To Beck

Says 5 Cents Paid on Each Case of Beer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Post-Dispatch reported today Dave Beck, president of the Teamsters union, received five cents on every case of Budweiser beer sold in Alaska for a period of several years.

The newspaper said government investigators learned the money was paid to Dave Beck Jr. by K & L Beverage Co. of Seattle, a distributor for Anheuser-Busch Inc. and "eventually found its way into the accounts of the elder Beck."

The tracing of the five-cent-a-case commission is scheduled for an airing by the Senate Rackets Committee in Washington, probably this week, the Post-Dispatch reported.

The Post-Dispatch published what it described as a Dec. 6, 1950, memo from Jay R. Rideout, Anheuser-Busch employee, to John Flanagan, an official of the brewery. The memo referred to the K & L distributing firm established by Irvine J. Levine, and of which Dave Beck Jr. was then vice president.

Rideout was quoted in the memo as saying Levine "showed me an agreement signed by Mr. Beck to the effect that Jr. is to receive 5 cents a case on every case of Budweiser sold in the Alaska territory, but in no month is he to receive less than $1,000."

The memo described a dispute between Levine and the elder Beck over interpretation of the agreement.

"I asked Levine how Beck could force a contract like this inasmuch as Levine was supposed to control the organization," the memo stated. "Levine's stereotypical reply was 'he cannot, I'll stand on my own two feet.' Nevertheless Jr. will probably get his $1,000 a month."

Anheuser-Busch officials testified before the Senate committee last week that the brewery gave Beck "favored treatment" through the west coast distributorship and that the elder Beck in turn helped out the brewery in a strike.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate rackets probes turn today to what they called Dave Beck's "demands" for favors from two businessmen through whom he channeled Teamsters Union funds.

Summoned as witnesses were Roy Fruehauf, president of the Fruehauf Trailer Co. of Detroit, and A. M. Burke, head of the mortgage loan department of the Occidental Insurance Co. of Los Angeles.

The committee already has heard evidence that Beck lent 1½ million dollars of Teamster funds to the Fruehauf Foundation when Fruehauf needed more capital to cope with a proxy fight. The loan since has been repaid with interest.

Other witnesses have said that Beck later called on Fruehauf to arrange for a $200,000 loan to Beck personally from the Brown Equipment Co.

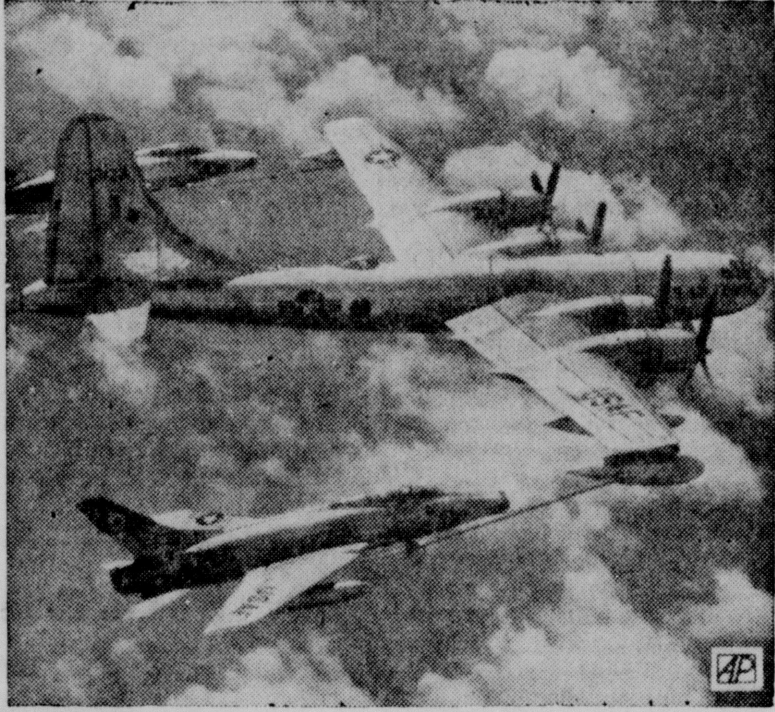

This was at a time when the Internal Revenue Service was looking into Beck's income tax returns and when the committee contends Beck began repaying with borrowed funds $320,000 it says he had misappropriated to his own use.

Chairman McClellan (Dem. Ark.) said Fruehauf would be asked about this and what he called "other demands" by Beck after Beck had authorized the big Teamster loan.

He said Burke will be asked about reports concerning "demands" from Beck after the Teamsters Union had placed a million dollars worth of insurance with Occidental. The committee has heard testimony that Occidental agreed to buy $50,000 worth of mortgages a month through the National Mortgage Co., a Seattle firm in which the committee contends Beck held a financial interest.

To Speak Tuesday Night

Senator Says Ike Should State Desire

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) called on President Eisenhower today to make it clear in a TV-radio address "whether he wants an economy administration or a spending administration."

Johnson, Senate Democratic leader, said in an interview "the administration is speaking out of both sides of its mouth" on fiscal matters and Eisenhower himself ought to clear the matter up.

Eisenhower goes on the air tomorrow night to defend his $71,800,000,000 spending budget. Democrats are almost certain to ask for equal time to reply, but were reported undecided about their speaker.

Johnson's blast was touched off by a comment yesterday by Sherman Adams, chief presidential assistant, that the budget can be cut from 1½ to 2 billion dollars without impairing government efficiency.

Adams, interviewed on a television program by Rep. Keating (R-N.Y.), did not specify whether he was referring to Eisenhower's spending budget or the $73,300,000,000 in new appropriations Eisenhower originally asked for the year starting July 1. Eisenhower already has suggested Congress could cut the new money about $1,300,000,000 and mentioned another 500 millions it might want to consider deferring until another year.

Sen. Bridges (R-NH) referred to these figures in a weekend statement and said that in addition the administration has agreed not to ask Senate restoration of $46 million dollars cut by the

Jet Bomber Crewmen Parachute to Safety

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Two Air Force crewmen who successfully bailed out of a B57 Canberra jet bomber yesterday 1,000 miles west of here are expected to reach Honolulu Thursday on the Coast Guard cutter Wachusett.

The jet was one of three flying from McClellan Air Force Base, near Sacramento, to Honolulu en route to the 3rd Bomber Wing at Johnson AFB in Japan. The flight was classified. The two-man crew reported by radio their plane was using too much fuel and they could neither make it to Honolulu nor return to Sacramento.

As their plane plummeted into the sea, the pilot, Maj. Peter Coteselle, and navigator Lt. Jayle P. Johnson parachuted without injury near the Wachusett.

Both Are Socialist States

Israel, Burma Are Engaged In Technical Help Program

RANGOON (AP)—Israel and Burma discovered three years ago that they had something in common: both are socialist states.

As a result, they are engaged in a technical assistance program. Israel does not involve its government, but acts as an employment agency, locating the type of experts Burma wants. Burma pays the salaries and the transportation for the Israelis who come here to work six months to two years.

There are five Israeli doctors, a team of five architects and engineers and six agriculture experts working for various Burmese agencies. Burmese officials say they hope to learn more about improving their medical facilities, developing rural communities and diversifying their one-crop economy (rice).

The two countries have conducted a highly successful barter trade agreement. Burma provides rice for Israel and in return re-

House from money bills already handled. He said that added up to more than two billions already cut, and forecast further reductions.

Keating asked Adams where the administration stands on cutting the budget.

"Well," Adams replied, "it's pretty difficult to say just exactly where you are coming out, but I think the magnitude of the cut in the vicinity of a billion and a half to two billion dollars will not interfere with the quality of the services nor the ability of the administration to carry out those services."

Describing Adams as "the very able and very authoritative chief of staff" for the White House, ample of disagreement within the administration. Eisenhower himself has rejected the possibility of a two billion cut in his spending proposals.

Truman Says US Fumbling Caused Crisis

DALLAS (AP)—Former President Harry Truman today shrugged off "modern republicanism" as "counterfeit."

He also blamed the Middle East crisis on what he called United States fumbling. The Democratic former president arrived in rain, stepped off a train from Kansas City with a broad smile. He went at once to the Press Club of Dallas, where his views on assorted current events were voiced at a news conference.

Truman was asked his views on the Middle East situation, and replied with characteristic vigor: "If the matter had been handled right in the first place there wouldn't be any Middle East situation."

He mentioned no names in connection with the Middle East, but referred waspishly at other points to President Eisenhower.

A newsman asked if Truman felt GOP leaders, in putting forward a program styled modern Republicanism, were seeking to borrow strength from the Democratic party.

"I'd like to reply with a quotation from Sam Rayburn (The Democratic House leader from Texas)," he said.

"The other day Sam Rayburn said modern republicanism is just like a modern antique — they're counterfeit."

Man Drowns in Lake

LAKE OZARK, Mo. (AP)—Max W. Clingan, about 36, of Prairie Village, Kan., drowned in the Lake of the Ozarks about four miles north of the Grand Glaize bridge yesterday.

The Highway Patrol said Clingan, who could not swim, was riding on the front end of a boat which was speeding along powered by two outboard motors. He fell off in 80 feet of water.

Larry Dressler of Kansas City leaped out of the boat and tried to rescue Clingan but was unable to reach him in time.

Accuses Budget Bureau

Says a Plan To Reduce Cost Is Sidetracked

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Sen. Symington D-Mo today accused the budget bureau of sidetracking a plan to cut the cost of defense "despite the fact it does not require one cent of new appropriations in the present budget."

"The armed forces today are in a badly unbalanced situation," Symington said in a speech prepared for delivery before the Missouri Bankers assn.

"Efforts to develop and produce advanced weapons and strategic concepts are moving forward rapidly," he said. "But efforts to develop the men to utilize such equipment and concepts are being frustrated."

Symington said the secretary of defense appointed a special committee a year ago to examine the problem of keeping skilled men in the armed forces. The committee was headed by Ralph J. Cordiner, president of the General Electric CO.

Savings up to five billion dollars annually by 1962 in military spending were predicted by the Cordiner committee if its plan was adopted, the senator declared.

The program was "approved by the secretary of defense, members of the joint chiefs of staff and the service secretaries," Symington said. It then was submitted to the budget bureau "and pigeon-holed, despite the fact that it does not require one cent of new appropriation in the present budget and yet gives promise of markedly improved national defense with fewer people and at less cost."

Symington said he introduced last May a bill, based on the report, to change the methods of computing basic pay for members of the uniformed services.

He quoted the Air Force Assn. as charging that "pressure from the bureau of the budget had led the department of Defense to hold up the Cordiner program and consider only action based on relatively minor pay adjustments in certain critical skills."

"It is now clear that the best we may expect is piecemeal, patchwork, stop-gap recommendations designed to appease for the short haul—rather than any long-term investment approach," the senator said.

"If we do not want to run the danger of taxing ourselves out of the free enterprise system, we should promptly take advantage of the billions of dollars of savings which would come to us each year if the recommendations of the Cordiner committee are carried out."

Group Studies Needs

Says Russia Ahead Of US on Scientists

BROOKHAVEN, N.Y. (AP)—Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower said today "educators everywhere are worried" about the scarcity of teachers and students of nuclear energy, and warned that Russia is well ahead of the United States in training scientists.

Representing President Eisenhower, he opened the Inter-American "atoms-for-peace" symposium today at Brookhaven National Laboratory, atomic research center.

More than 200 scientists and engineers from 21 Latin-American nations and the United States began a five-day conference here. They are studying atomic energy needs and looking for ways to step up the use of it in South and Central America.

Dr. Eisenhower, citing the statement of an official of the Atomic Energy Commission said: "The greatest obstacle to progress in the peaceful application of nuclear energy is manpower — not uranium or money."

"We face a constant challenge from the Soviet Union in this regard. As a result of planning, coercively applied, Soviet Russia will have graduated, in the period between 1950 and 1960, some 1,200,000 scientists and engineers."

At the present rate, he continued, the United States will turn out some 900,000 trained men in the same period.

Dr. Eisenhower, president of Johns Hopkins University, said: "Educators everywhere are worried about the scarcity of skilled,

Jets in Flight To Commemorate First Colony

LONDON (AP)—Three U. S. Air Force jet fighters zoomed out of London Airport today on a non-stop flight to Jamestown, Va., to help commemorate the first permanent English settlement in a new world 350 years ago.

The Super Sabre F100s bore names of Susan Constant, Godspeed and Discovery—the names of the three little sailing ships which landed the 105 English settlers in Virginia May 13, 1607.

The three jets were christened yesterday at London Airport by Lady Churchill, wife of Sir Winston; Mrs. John Hay Whitney, wife of the American ambassador to Britain; and Mrs. W. D. Morrison, wife of the speaker of the House of Commons.

They were to be refueled twice over the Atlantic by aerial tankers during the 4,500-mile trip. The pilots hoped to reach Langley Field, Va., 7½ hours after the takeoff.

The three sailing ships which carried the original settlers took almost five months to make the transatlantic crossing.

The flight was led by Col. Carlos M. Talbot. On board the planes were copies of London newspapers, a copy of the Jamestown colony's original charter, facsimiles of the seals of James I. sovereign at the time of the first voyage, and coins commemorating the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II in 1953.

distinguished teachers and advanced students. It is especially acute in the basic sciences and engineers."

He added that "the training resources of the United States are strained, and will become more so in the future." However, he said, the United States is prepared to share them with "our friends."

Fund Bills To Be on Top In Legislature

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Less than three crowded weeks remained as Missouri legislators came back to their desks today. The 1957 sessions dies automatically Friday, May 31.

With all the major money bills still to be passed, appropriations promised to be in the forefront this week and next. The House is scheduled to pass the final catch-all bill—carrying an extra nine million dollars for old age assistance.

That will set the stage for final economy actions by the Senate Appropriations Committee, which is reported making considerable cuts in House passed bills. The committee is expected to report the bills out for passage this week, then many of them will head for conference committee adjustment.

The calendars of both houses are jammed and many of the remaining measures have stirred up controversies.

Awaiting action in the Senate is an embattled Highway Patrol bill to increase the strength of the patrol and raise salaries. Also pending is a speed limit bill, much different than the version that passed the House weeks ago.

The House, if it follows the pattern of recent weeks, is expected to spend part of its time reconsidering bills defeated last week.

Also pending in the House is a long series of Senate bills, including one to give the State Park Board authority to issue revenue bonds to build and improve park facilities.

BATTLEFIELD TOUR — British Field Marshal Bernard Montgomery and President Eisenhower arrive at Gettysburg, Pa., where Ike was to fulfill a promise made long ago to his World War II comrades-at-arms. The President was scheduled to take Montgomery, now deputy commander of North Atlantic Treaty Forces, on a tour of Gettysburg battlefield.

Flood Sweeps Through City

Virtually Destroys All Community Business Area

LAMPASAS, Tex. (AP)—A flash flood smashed through this central Texas town last night, leaving 5 persons unaccounted for today by Red Cross figures. It virtually destroyed the business district and damaged 150 homes.

Two persons were known to have drowned. The Red Cross hoped most of the missing on its list would turn up later. The area was being searched for possible bodies.

New downpours struck

Lampasas and nearby areas this morning and rain still fell at a late hour. Most of the flash flood had receded, but fresh rains brought fears of new flooding.

Lampasas is about 130 miles south and slightly west of Fort Worth. It is a rich agricultural area and has 4,689 population.

The flood hit when a levee broke under an estimated 7 inches of rain. Water from Sulphur Creek poured 6-feet high into the business section. Burleson Creek water joined the flood.

High water also ripped at other parts of the state in a new onslaught of heavy rains.

The first flood producing rains of the spring occurred April 18, and there has been little relief since. About 30 persons have drowned in floods, 9,000 or more have evacuated their homes at one time or another, and federal agencies estimated 85 million dollars in damage was caused — and this figure is expected to go much higher.

A near cloudburst closed scores of streets in Dallas last night and drove 100 families from their homes.

The Waco Weather Bureau issued flash flood warnings today on the Brazos and Bosque Rivers in central Texas.

Tornadoes struck with varying amounts of damage this morning and last night in scattered parts of Texas, including Garland, near Fort Worth; Weatherford, west of Fort Worth; Crawford in north central Texas; and near Dallas and between Greenville and Commerce, in east Texas, and near Big Spring in West Texas.

The new round of flash floods began Saturday. Three persons drowned Saturday when their automobiles were washed off highways.

At Lampasas, City Manager D. D. Nixon said "75 per cent of the stock and facilities in downtown business stores has been destroyed on the average."

Some businesses were completely destroyed.

Nixon said several furniture stores and one automobile display room were swept away by the flood. Walls and ceilings and all stock were swept away and only the concrete floors remained.

The Red Cross said workers coaxed for 3 hours to get an 80-year-old man down from a tree in Gunderland Park. There was no high water in the park but he told workers. "I can hear it running. Can't you?" The Red Cross did not obtain his name.

The town at one time was down to 14 loaves of bread, and the water supply was contaminated. But relief food was brought in from Killeen and Austin, and tank trucks brought in 30,000 gallons of safe water from Austin. The Red Cross ordered 3,000 typhoid shots delivered.

No official estimate of damage was available, but it obviously would run into millions.

Between 50 and 100 homes were knocked off their foundations. Some floated several blocks to new locations with virtually little damage. One hundred city blocks were flooded.

Some 45 business establishments were almost 100 per cent destroyed in the hard-hit downtown section. Furniture and merchandise floated along with a tremendous pile of debris in the receding waters. As the water inches lower a scum of mud two inches thick was left to mark the flooded areas.

Files Charge Against Youth In Poisoning

Park College Student Arrested, Hearing Set for Tomorrow

PLATTE CITY, Mo. (AP)—An 18-year-old scholarship student at Park College has been charged with mixing arsenic in food eaten by a school nurse and two coeds.

"I think someone's after me," said Hubert McKinley Fulkerson Jr., of Muskogee, Okla., after his arraignment yesterday. "There is evidence pointing to me because I had access to arsenic in the chemistry laboratory."

The victims, Luella Matthews, Jon Porter and Shirley Flint, were reported in good condition at Waverly Medical Center on the campus. They became ill Thursday after eating luncheon at the center.

Mrs. Matthews is a nurse. Miss Porter is from Greenfield, Mo., and Miss Flint from Dow, Iowa.

Fulkerson was taken to Neurological Hospital in Kansas City shortly after they became ill. He was arrested yesterday and arraigned before Platte County Magistrate John Yeaman. No plea was entered and he was taken to the county jail.

Preliminary hearing was set for tomorrow to allow the youth's parents time to engage an attorney.

The formal charge against Fulkerson is mingling poison with food with intent to kill or injure. The penalty upon conviction is five years in prison to death.

The campus already was jittery over six fires last week when the poisonings became known. Dr. Robert E. Long, president of the college, said the fires were set.

Authorities said Saturday a youth was being questioned about both the poisonings and the fires.

Fulkerson, a freshman at Park, was an honor student at Muskogee Central High School. His specialty is physics. Officials said he had no previous record.

Dr. Long said Fulkerson suffered a head injury about 18 months ago when he was hit by a baseball and has blacked out three times at school.

Fulkerson's mother, Mrs. H. W. Fulkerson, Muskogee, Okla., was described as "distraught" over the arrest of her son. The boy's father declined to talk to newsmen, saying his wife had become ill and adding:

"I don't mean to be discourteous, but I have to get my wife to a doctor."

B. L. Wertz, principal of Muskogee Central High School from which Fulkerson graduated last year, described the boy as a straight A student and a top citizen.

Senate Directs Benson to Make Study on Grain

By Maurice G. Boehl
Of Our Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON—Agriculture Secretary Benson has been directed by the Senate to make a thorough study of possible methods of improving the feed grain programs.

Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri was the author of the resolution which passed without objection.

The Missouri Democrat says much of the difficulty encountered by both the House and Senate this year in trying to work out satisfactory programs for feed grain, including corn, came from lack of information. To make improvements in time to cover the 1958 crops, Benson is requested to report on his study, "with specific recommendations of any legislation considered necessary, not later than July 15, 1957. It is expected to include all historic data obtainable."

In recent years, Symington says, substitute feed grains have been developed and grown on uncontrolled acres, thus minimizing the effect of the reduction in corn acreages.

'Confidential' Has Offered Style Change

By DREW PEARSON
LOS ANGELES — Confidential Magazine, faced with one of the toughest criminal suits in the history of American magazines, has offered to cut out sex and scandal and completely revamp its make-up.

This is the offer made to Attorney General Pat Brown of California and District Attorney William McKesson of Los Angeles, on the eve of their criminal prosecution of Confidential, called for May 14. A grand jury is scheduled to convene that day.

Attorney General Brown started proceedings against Confidential some time ago on the ground that its scandalous exposes resulted in divorces and blackmail. He is charging criminal libel.

He found, however, that big-name witnesses were loath to testify. Marilyn Monroe and Elvis Presley, both featured in Confidential, both begged off. Dorothy Dandridge, Negro singer, however, was delighted to testify and will do so if the case goes to trial.

Meanwhile, Confidential publishers gave Brown two alternatives: 1. An offer to reform their magazine;

2. Confidential would subpoena various big names and prove the truth.

The argument of Confidential publishers is that the American public has a right to know when the stars of the motion picture, radio and TV world do not lead moral lives; that its exposes are an influence for good. They also claim that one defense against criminal libel is the truth, therefore intend to call top-name witnesses to show that they have been printing the truth.

Brown and McKesson are expected to accept Confidential's proposal to reform.

Your Money After May 10

Statisticians can cause frustration among those who think they are sharp with pencil and figures.

Not long ago it was fairly agreed that the average person's income for the first three months of every year all went for taxes. But now we learn this has been extended ten more calendar days, a total of 130 needed to collect the people's earnings in order to support our own governments (maybe some overseas, too). This includes, of course, federal, state, school, city and other taxes.

So we let May 10 get by without observing what someone has facetiously called the "Last Day of Bondage."

Sedalians who have kept track of all their taxes during a year's period, will testify to the fact that these levies actually do take all their earnings from the first of the year until May 1 or 10th, take your choice. There's not too much difference on the payoff of ten more days.

Right now about 36 cents out of every dollar goes for taxes. The amount has been creeping up and won't stop until people really want more economical government with the reduction in government activity this will involve. As usual there is big talk about economy in government, but that's about all.

The Citizens Committee For The Hoover Report has produced a quiz relevant to the tax subject which has some noteworthy questions:

1. How much is the government's proposed budget for fiscal 1958? The answer: $71,800,000,000.
2. How long would it take you, an individual citizen, to spend this sum at the rate of $100,000 a day? The answer: Nearly 2,000 years.
3. Has the government ever spent more in a single year? The answer: Only in wartime.
4. How does the 1958 budget compare with federal spending 20 years ago? The answer: 1,000 per cent increase.
5. What will 1958 budget costs mean to families and individuals? The answer: $1,400 per average American family, or $427 per capita.
6. How high is the national debt now? The answer: $274,000,000,000.
7. What is the average family's share of this debt? The answer: $7,000.
8. What was the average family's share 20 years ago? The answer: Less than $1.00.
9. The Hoover Report points to eventual savings of $5,000,000,000 yearly. What would this mean in savings per average family? The answer: $100 a year.
10. Who must move for action on the Hoover Report? The answer: Congress, the Administration — and You!

Someone has suggested an appropriate slogan, which if adopted and implemented by the people will help to shrink the tax burden:

"I'll take less from government—if government will take less from me."

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—GOP Congressman Sam McConnell is a Philadelphia investment banker who also serves on the House Labor and Education Committee where he tries to do a conscientious job for all the public. He has just returned from a trip through four midwestern states at his own expense. The purpose: To learn the true facts about the nation's need for school buildings.

McConnell returned more convinced than ever of the urgency of federal school aid, despite the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

"I'm an investment banker," McConnell confessed to this column, recalling that most investment bankers oppose federal aid on the grounds that it would rob them of school-bond underwriting business.

"I guess I'm a conservative, and I'm a lifelong Republican. But I simply don't agree with the U.S. Chamber's interpretation of the figures on the nation's need for schools.

"There's a real shortage, but one of a specific nature. You have to understand that."

The place where schools are needed most, he explained, is in the suburbs, close to big cities. In such areas, population has swollen in recent years, but school construction hasn't kept pace. The suburbs lack adequate tax revenues to build schools, chiefly because they don't have taxing factories within their boundaries.

"Logically they should get help from their state governments," McConnell continued, "and in many cases the states are helping. But there are other cases where constitutional restrictions make state help impossible.

"For example, some states have a limit beyond which they're not allowed to borrow money. Constitutions just don't get adjusted in five minutes. It's hard to get them changed."

NEA's Cold Feet
McConnell considers it urgent to build schools immediately, before the growing crop of school-age kids reaches high school.

"If they get a bad start," warns the Congressman, "they may be ruined for the rest of their lives, even if we eventually succeed in getting the school shortage ironed out."

Following his trip to inspect school buildings in Ohio, Indiana, Missouri and Iowa, McConnell made an impassioned plea behind closed doors of the House Education Committee. He begged his colleagues to back the federal aid bill, despite the economy hysteria now disrupting Congress.

A few days later, representatives of the National Education Association got cold feet, called on McConnell to suggest that the proposed five-year expenditure be lowered from the $2,000,000,000 already agreed upon. The NEA was worried that the economizers would reject the bill.

McConnell agreed to cut $500,000,000 from the proposed cost. The education committee later concurred by a vote of 23 to 3, with Udall of Arizona (D.), Green of Oregon (D.), and Nicholson of Massachusetts (R.) holding out for the full $2,000,000,000.

Humphrey's Company Benefits
Treasury Secretary George Humphrey's M. A. Hanna Company is about to share in another government subsidy. This one is for $7,200,000 for building a combined ore carrier and tanker.

The Hanna combine will also benefit from a $2,900,000 "trade-in" on a converted C-4 cargo ship of wartime vintage. The Hanna company was headed for many years by Secretary Humphrey, and when he joined the cabinet he did not sell his stock. Congressional committees have been threatening to investigate a possible conflict of interest from the fact that Humphrey has benefited from various government transactions.

The present government handout, totaling over $10,000,000, will be paid by the Maritime Administration to Ore Transport, Inc., a company partly owned by the Hanna Coal and Ore Corp., the National Steel Corp., which Humphrey controls, Wheeling Steel, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, and Armco Steel.

These companies, together with Republic Steel, are jointly developing the fabulous iron-ore deposits of Labrador and Quebec. They will use the new combination ore carrier and tanker to carry iron ore from Seven Isles, Labrador, to Baltimore and Philadelphia during the summer. In winter, when northern seas are frozen, the new ship will carry oil along the sunnier southern routes.

The combination ore carrier and tanker will cost $17,903,292. However, Uncle Sam will bear 56 per cent of the expense, so Ore Transport Inc. will get its fleet addition for a mere $8,000,000.

Theoretically, the government subsidy is paid to permit U.S. shipyards to survive against the competition of foreign shipbuilders with lower labor costs. Eyebrows will be raised by the present deal, therefore, because U.S. shipyards are thriving on orders resulting from the Suez Canal crisis. They're fully occupied building tankers, but despite this the Maritime Administration now proposes to pay a $10,000,000 subsidy to an ore shipper closely identified with the Secretary of the Treasury.

A Brother's Criticism

President Eisenhower's answers about brother Edgar's criticism of the budget was a natural one: "He has been criticizing me since I was five years old." In a family where there are five or six brothers it would be unusual if at least one of them did not criticize the other, especially when one is as famous as brother "Ike."

Take the five Rockefeller brothers, the five Firestone brothers, the five Marx brothers and many other families of brothers who have achieved distinction. Their criticisms may not have gotten into print but there is not question that it existed. The important thing about brotherly relationships is that despite criticism and differences in opinion, they remain friends.

In the case of the Eisenhower family the public criticized the President for appointing his brother Milton to various governmental jobs—but who could be more trustworthy or more anxious to do the task than a trusted brother.

There are many brothers who do not get along and whose criticism could result in anger and misunderstandings and a feud that could never be settled. Yet, where there is genuine devotion and loyalty, a brother's criticism ought to be better than anyone's else. Apparently Ike, Milton and Edgar are friends as well as brothers.

Atoms-for-Peace Plans Meet Trouble

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower is running into trouble in Congress even with the atoms-for-peace plan which he first proposed more than three years ago.

Since then 81 nations—including the United States and Russia—have approved the idea but this country can't join unless the Senate approves by the hard-to-get two-thirds vote.

Eisenhower's trouble now is similar to the trouble he was having Dec. 8, 1953, when he startled the world with his idea of an international pool of atomic materials for peaceful uses.

He was being criticized then after 11 months in office—as he is being criticized now after almost 52 months—for lack of leadership in dealing with Congress.

He seemed then, as he does now, almost timid in handling the lawmakers. He leaned then, and leans now, over backwards to avoid conflict with them.

Sen. McCarthy (R - Wis.), who died 11 days ago but was then at the peak of his influence, moved in on Eisenhower's conduct of foreign policy and belittled him for his "perfumed note" diplomacy.

Looking Backward...

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

John W. Hicks, Jr., who with Mrs. Hicks and son, John II, recently returned from Australia, where he had been manager for the Paramount Film Co., left for New York to be located in supervision over films distribution for Great Britain, China, Japan and the Orient, including India, South Africa, Australia and New Zealand for Paramount Public.

Frank Celoud, formerly manager of the Sedalia and Liberty Theatres, left for Marshall to be manager of the Fox Auditorium Theatre.

1932
W. T. Wells, 120 East Broadway, was severely injured in a fall down steps to a basement at his home when his head struck the cement floor.

1932
A "four round attendance bout" was staged by Capt. Joe Rosenthal, E. H. Poord with E. W. Couey and C. L. Hanley at the meeting of Kiwanis, resulting in a "tie" with attendance of 100 per cent for Capt. Poord, and 100 per cent less one member for Capt. Rosenthal.

FORTY YEARS AGO

One hundred and fifty members of the Travelers Protective Association, with a considerable number of women visitors, were here for the opening of the Missouri division convention at Liberty Park Convention Hall. The address of welcome was given by Mayor J. L. Babcock.

1917
Charles Hall, Longwood, left for Fresno County, Calif., to represent the supply department of the Kern Trading and Oil Co.

1917
W. F. Erwin and L. E. Edgington had fine strings of fast stepping horses at the Missouri State Fair grounds that they had working out on the track for the racing season.

1917
Mrs. Clara Belle McGee was chosen to succeed Mrs. Ruth Selsor at Melita Day Nursery. Mrs. Selsor was leaving to make her home with her daughters in Kansas City.

Now Eisenhower's budget is being slashed by the lawmakers, who are paying little attention to him, and some of the major parts of his 1957 program are in critical danger of being wrecked.

Eisenhower dawdled in 1953, appearing most reluctant to take a stand on McCarthy. This year he has dawdled in taking a firm stand in defense of his budget and other parts of his program.

In 1953 McCarthy called on his followers to write Eisenhower in support of the senator's criticism. About 50,000 letters were written. But Eisenhower finally took a stand.

Firmly, but mildly, he rejected McCarthy's ideas on handling foreign policy. And then he regained a lot of lost ground, silencing a lot of his critics, with his bold atoms-for-peace proposal.

Nothing so startling is expected now. But Eisenhower is taking a leaf out of McCarthy's book—in reverse. In two broadcasts he will ask the public to put pressure on Congress to support his programs.

Eisenhower's own right-wing

Republicans and Southern Democrats are the obstacles to Senate approval for this country to join the International Atomic Energy Agency.

In 1953 Sen. Knowland of California, Republican Senate leader and the one to whom Eisenhower would most naturally turn for support, gave qualified approval to McCarthy's criticism of Eisenhower's foreign policy.

Now Knowland is one of those with misgivings about the IAEA. Although the 81 nations have approved an agreement to create the IAEA, it can't come into existence until formal approval, or ratification, is given by 18 nations, including three of the five major powers: the United States, Russia, Britain, France, Canada.

Russia and six others have ratified. Britain, France and Canada apparently are waiting to see what the United States does.

If the Senate refuses ratification, Eisenhower's whole atoms-for-peace idea will either collapse or be taken over by Russia and any others who want to join with her.

Why Poison Children With 'Divide and Conquer' Policy?

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

When Lois got home from school, her mother asked her to go on an errand. She didn't want to.

Not unnaturally, she was annoyed at the prospect of returning 12 blocks to the store she'd just passed on her way home. Snatching her coat, she said, "Goodness, why can't you wait to tell the butcher he overcharged you?" Then she ran out, slamming the kitchen door.

To Lois' younger sister Peggy, her mother said, "Miss Tyrant—that's what she is. That's the thanks I get for ironing this blouse for her. It's her selfishness. I've been too good to her..."

Later, Lois and Peggy had one of their frequently bitter quarrels. When the older girl insisted on reclaiming her lending library romance, Peggy deliberately tore out one of its pages. Throwing it on the floor, she cried, "There's your old book, Miss Selfishness! I hope they fine you your whole allowance for that page..."

Unless we want to stir up quarreling between children, we should not criticize one to another.

When we define Lois as "selfish" to Peggy, our judgment is not questioned. Just as Peggy once accepted our word that matches were unsafe playthings, she now accepts our suggestion that her sister's "selfishness" threatens her.

This acceptance makes it quite impossible for her to experience her own feelings toward Lois when her sister reclaims her library book. By parental influence, the older girl's demand is already prejudged for the younger one as evil and oppressive.

Thus, into what should be a passing resentment between our children, we inject poison that can make it chronic.

If we're a parent who habitually criticizes one child to another, this chronic conflict between them is probably just what we want.

The chances are, we crave praise. When, like Lois, one child dares to find some fault in us, we realize that she's not too reliable as a source of praise. Our first concern then becomes getting our supply from the other child.

To do this, we think nothing of employing our whole powerful influence as a parent to undermine Peggy's trust in her sister. To retain her as our praise supplier, we go in for chronic criticism of Lois.

As other tyrants have before, we maintain ourselves through the old policy of "divide and conquer."

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS FROM YOUR STATE CAPITOL

Legislation to legalize horse and dog racing and on the track betting in Missouri appears dead for the present session of the 89th general assembly.

Two house bills were introduced to authorize horse racing and pari-mutuel betting. One bill was stricken from the calendar by its sponsor, Rep. Anthony Pickrell (D-Kansas City). The other proposal was defeated by the house by a vote of 31 for, 89 opposed.

Out-state legislators who voted for the horse racing bill were: Miss Jennie Chinn (D-Randolph county); Richard DeCoster (D-Lewis county); George Duensing (R-Lafayette county); Grant Flakne (D-Carroll county); Norbert J. Jasper (D-Franklin county); Joseph Keilholz (D-Osage county); Mrs. Agnes Moore (D-St. Genevieve county); Charles H. Pulis (D-Audrain county); Milton Overstreet (D-Pettis county); Jerry Schellhorn (D-Buchanan county); and B. H. Stone (R - Madison county).

Metropolitan area representatives who favored the horse race legislation were Becklerie, Berra, Curran, Geary, Griffin, Hopfinger, Lavin, Martino, Mazzucca, Neal, O'Reilly, Tanner, Troupe, Tyus, Uxa, Wheeler and Young of St. Louis county.

A senate bill introduced by Sen. Edward Hogan to legalize dog racing is still moldering in a senate committee.

Proposals to do something about the large number of salary increase bills which plague the legislature were introduced recently.

In the house, Rep. Dwight Beals (R-Jackson county), proposed an amendment to the constitution to require a two-thirds majority on all salary increase bills passed by the legislature. Such bills now need only a simple majority to pass. The proposal was not expected to find much favor by the legislature.

In the senate, Sen. Jack Jones (D-Carrollton) proposed an interim study committee to work out a "coherent plan" for presenting pay increase proposals to the legislature.

Jones said the pay bills have consumed a large amount of time in the legislature and there has been no study made to assure that like jobs would receive like compensation. He proposed that five members of the senate and five representatives study the problem and report back to the next legislature.

No immediate action was taken on the proposed study.

The state senate ganged up on St. Louis area members recently to pass a water pollution bill 20-9. The bill now goes to the house.

It was opposed by St. Louis because the city would need additional sewage treatment plants to avoid violation of the water pollution act.

Sen. John A. Johnson (D-Ellington) was the only out-state senator to oppose the bill. All St. Louis and St. Louis county senators, except Sen. Robert Pentland, voted against the bill.

The water pollution bill defines pollution and sets up regulations to control it. Under the bill, a water pollution board is set up which would issue permits for the dis-

Powders Are Good For Sprays

Mixture Can Be Used
Weekly to Control
Insects, Diseases

By Merle Vaughan
County Agent

A simple garden spray recommended for insects and diseases this year includes Methoxychlor, Malathion and Zineb, all as wettable powders. With that mixture gardens can be sprayed once a week through the season to control both insects and diseases. On flowers and orchards another fungicide, Captan, is recommended in place of Zineb.

The recommended mixture includes one tablespoon of 50 per cent wettable methoxychlor, one tablespoon of 25 per cent wettable malathion and two tablespoons of either Zineb or Captan. Just recently I found that the Malathion could not be purchased in less than four-pound packages and Zineb was difficult to find.

Where Zineb cannot be found, the Captan can be used on gardens. Also, as I will point out later, the Malathion is still a good buy at four pounds, although we have found a place where we can order it in two-pound amounts.

It has reportedly not been possible to mix all the ingredients together in a package to put on the shelf because the Malathion and the fungicides might react against each other. One farm supply store avoided that by putting the insecticides in one end of a package and the fungicides in the other end of the same package.

Then when ready for use, two tablespoons are taken from each end of the carton and mixed with one gallon of water.

One of the commercial companies has now started putting the Methoxychlor, Malathion and Captan in the same container, but they have it in very dilute form so that it can be used also as a dust. I had a shock when I found that with this diluted commercial product it took a whole cupful to mix with one gallon of water. That is all right as a dust but when you use it as a spray, all that material is very hard to get through a sprayer and it leaves a lot of residue on the plants.

That way, too, a pound package would only make up four gallons of spray costing about 25 cents per gallon. If we only used two gallons of spray a week and sprayed through May, June and July, or three months, we would need $6.00 worth of materials to make up 24 gallons of spray.

Now what would it cost to mix your own materials? My pound can of Methoxychlor cost me $1.20 and a pound will make up about 32 gallons. A pound can of Captan costs around a dollar. At two tablespoons per gallon it will make up about 16 gallons of spray. To get enough to match the Methoxychlor and make up 32 gallons you would need two pounds or $2.00 worth.

Now then, one of these big four-pound containers of Malathion cost $3.20. The whole mix could be bought for $6.40 or only 40 cents more than the commercially mixed product. The cost would be reduced to 20 cents per gallon, and you would not have the offensive residue. Also you would have three pounds of Malathion that you could divide with your neighbors. If you used enough spray to use the whole four pounds of Malathion, or did divide with your neighbors, the cost per gallon would be reduced to 12½ cents.

One word of warning: The Malathion powder has an even more

Get Good Response For Dairy Day Cakes

A good return is being received on the request for cakes for the June Dairy Month promotion on the night of June 1. To date 66 dairy families have promised two cakes apiece or a total of 132 cakes. In addition 25 members of five extension clubs have promised a cake apiece, or a total of 25 cakes, making a grand total of 157 cakes promised. With that kind of response, the goal of 200 cakes should easily be reached.

offensive odor than the emulsifiable concentrate. Possibly it would be kept in sealed and properly labeled containers until needed.

I expect a lot of you carried over a small bottle of Malathion from last year. This can be mixed with the Methoxychlor wettable powder at the rate of one teaspoon of the Malathion 50 per cent emulsifiable concentrate and one teaspoon Methoxychlor 50 per cent wettable powder in a gallon of water. That spray should be put on to control insects. Then a few days later the same area can be sprayed with Zineb or Captan, or both, without any harm to plants.

CAUTION—Do not use Methoxychlor, Malathion, Zineb or Captan within seven days of harvest. Should you need an insecticide during this period, use Rotenone. Should a fungicide be necessary, use the fixed copper preparations.

Training on Tests

A total of 18 folks attended the training meeting last Tuesday at Ernest Schlobohm's. The purpose was to learn to make quick tests so as to check all fields and pastures on the farm for available lime and phosphate.

Testing materials were loaned to the 18 folks with the understanding that it all had to be back in the office by Tuesday, May 14. They were asked to bring in their check sheets from their fields too so they can be summarized. As soon as these check sheets are back from Columbia the men will be invited to the office some night to pick up their sheets, review the summary and ask questions.

Apparently these tests were eye openers. Cloyce Wilson made his tests the next day and found at least one field where he decided to get a regular soil test and make a more complete investigation.

George Fichter had similar questions and Cloyd Merk sent his wife in to ask about a field that showed up badly. Mrs. Merk said "we made our check a family affair with the two youngsters going along, too."

Others making the tests include Tom Yeater, Olen Monsees, Milo Homan, Don Clifford, G. W. Meyers, George Teter, W. J. Lamm, Robert Longan, Stevens McClure, Forest Dohrman, L. H. Durlay, J. E. Tolson, Ted Coffelt, W. J. Ficken and Ernest Schlobohm.

If there is enough interest, another training session will be held later this year.

When to Cut Alfalfa

Some folks have been waiting for their alfalfa to start blooming as an indication that it was ready to cut. The recommended measure or indication in Missouri is the starting of second growth from the crowns. It should be cut when they are two to three inches long.

Sometimes like this year when there is little sunshine those indicators are there before any blooms appear. I was in two fields in Longwood township Thursday and Friday and both had considerable second growth started. In fact some of the shoots are long enough that they will be cut by the sickle bar.

Top Dress After First Cutting

After the first cutting is removed is the recommended time to top dress alfalfa. The amount to use and the kind will depend on previous treatments. Whether it is worked in or not depends on whether there are any weeds and grass to root out.

If weeds or grass are present, a spring tooth harrow or field cultivator with narrow spikes can be used to tear out the grass and work in the fertilizer.

Now to that fertilizer. If rock phosphate was used previous to planting the suggested mixture would be 0-9-27 or 0-10-30. If no rock phosphate had been used one 0-20-20 might be better. Either one ought to include borax.

The amount will also depend on previous treatments. A producing field needs about 400 pounds of 0-9-27 plus borax per year to replace the phosphate and potash removed with three tons of hay.

Extension Gives Insecticide Use Suggestions

Here are the recommendations of the extension entomologists for the use of soil insecticides on corn land this year.

Use either aldrin or heptachlor at the rate of one pound per acre as a side-dress at planting time, or 1½ pounds per acre applied broadcast anytime after the ground has been plowed and before final disking.

The band treatment can be used with the insecticide mixed with a starter fertilizer, or the insecticide granules can be applied just behind the planter shoe. Special applicators for the granules are available on the market.

There is one thing to watch when using the band method. Some fertilizer attachments on planters put the insecticides too far away from the seed. To get best results from the insecticide, you want it as close to the seed as possible without actually coming in contact with it.

If the broadcast application is used, spray the insecticide on the ground after plowing and disk in immediately.

Do your youngsters make their own sandwiches for lunchtime use? Make sure their hands and fingernails are clean before they start this food preparation.

Crashes Claim 13 Lives In Famed Italian Auto Race

BRESCIA, Italy (AP)—The fiery red Ferrari of Spanish playboy millionaire Marquis Alfonso de Portago sent 12 persons to their death, including himself and his American driving companion, as it hurtled into crowds lining the route of the Mille Miglia auto race near Mantua yesterday.

De Portago's powerful 3,800 c.c. car was hurtling at 150 miles an hour when it blew a tire and careened wildly to the side of the road, crushing the two occupants and instantly killing 10 spectators. Several others were injured.

Later in the day, the race claimed its 13th victim as Dutch driver Josef Goettgens' car skidded on wet pavement near Florence and spun into a road guard. He died of a fractured skull.

De Portago was the estranged husband of the former Carl McDaniel of Greenville, S. C. His widow and their two children left New York's International Airport and were expected here late tomorrow.

Edmund (Eddy) Nelson, a native of Beloit, Wis., was the co-driver. He lived with his wife in Paris, but she had been in New York for the past month so their 2-year-old son could undergo an operation on his leg. She also left by plane early today for Paris, where her husband's body was being shipped.

The toll boosted to 18 the number of fatalities in the race in the last two years and newspapers immediately predicted new demands would be made in the Italian Parliament to cancel the classic, The Mille Miglia has been the last big open road race in Europe since the Le Mans race was dropped after the 90-death tragedy in 1955.

This year's race was approved only after officials pledged strict enforcement of safety regulations. Curves along the route were banked with straw bales, police were stationed along the roads to hold back crowds, and the entries cut nearly in half—from 600 to 350.

De Portago, internationally known in bobsledding as well as auto racing, was running in third place behind Piero Taruffi of Italy, the eventual winner, and Wolfgang von Tripps of Germany.

He had been informed of his standing during a brief stopover at Mantua and gunned his flaming-red car at maximum speed in an attempt to overtake the leaders.

Witnesses said the car leaped over a canal to the left of the highway, crushed several spectators, then careened back over the canal, across the road and into the crowd there. Two of the victims killed were struck by a concrete milestone which the car uprooted and hurled into the crowd.

Early today, Hollywood actress Linda Christian, frequently seen in the marquis' company, arrived here from Rome and went to a church at nearby Cavriana, where the bodies of De Portago and Nelson were lying in state. She declined to make any statement and later drove to Milan.

De Portago was the 13th victim of the Mille Miglia auto race since its inception in 1926.

The match gets the usual Wednesday night network (ABC) radio and TV coverage.

Vince DiBiase, a New York University student who has been making quite a name for himself in the welter class, takes on another youngster, Jimmy Archer of New York, on the Monday show at St. Nicholas Arena. There will be TV (DuMont) coverage in some sections.

Calhoun and Giardello were to have fought last December but Calhoun suffered a training camp injury. An injury to Giardello's eye forced postponement of a scheduled April match.

In his 28-fight career, Calhoun has lost only once—to Spider Webb of Chicago last August. However, he is moving up into a tough league with Giardello, 26-year-old veteran.

The bout will be carried on NBC TV-radio.

Bowling

With the league bowling season in its last week, several league championships are still undecided. The Classic League is very close as Fowler Insurance is leading the league by a couple of points, over John's Auto Supply team. In the Thursday Businessmen's League, Falstaff Beer has a slight edge over Red Morris West Side Texaco aggregation. This week will decide those two leagues.

James Electric pulled ahead to a 11-game lead and another championship in the Minor League. Members of James Electric team are Don Patton, Gerald Horst, Dick Kaufman, Oscar Thomas, Bill Hall, Don Morton and Jim Sands. Blue Young Sheet Metal boys finished second. D. L. Brown Insurance third, Roseland Meats fourth, Knights of Columbus fifth and Full City sixth.

Parkhurst Trailer Rentals won the All-Star League championship by six points over second place Freese Dairy. Meadow Gold took third, Hamm's Beer fourth, Walz IGA Grocery fifth and the Electricians sixth. Members of Parkhurst team are George Curran, Bill Wear, Joe Sands, Oscar Thomas, Don Morton and Gerald Horst.

KSIS radio all but wrapped up the ever close Monday Merchant League as they swept the series from the St. Paul's Lutheran boys. Jack Vaughan set a new season's high in this league with a big 257 game and a 639 series. Ken Pabst chipped in a 244 and a 590 series to give KSIS a big 1152 team game and a 3196 series. The 1152 team game is a season's high.

There were five other six hundred series with three of them coming in the Classic League. Fran Tray put together games of 237, 213 and 180 for 630. Bill Shockey still in good form got a 617 and a 606 in the Minor League with a big 244 game. Bob Land with 611 and Joe Long with 614 wound up the six hundred plus shooters.

Other bowlers that were mighty close to the charmed circle were Louis Heuerman with 222-598 also a 233, Harold Johnson 233-596 and Elmer Wittman 585. Other good individual games were knocked out by Dave Kory 220, Bob McCurdy 229, Vern Bingham 224, Vic Scott 224, John Hazel 243 and Gene Merry 221.

The Ladies' League bowling will also wind up this week. Connor-Wagoner took the championship of the Ladies' Merchant League by a 14½ game margin. Pepsi Cola finished second, Ralph Hamlin's Service Station third, The Griddle fourth, Meadow Gold fifth and Miller High Life sixth. Members of the Connor-Wagoner team are Myrt Whitfield, Jane Wimer, Willie Studer, Helen Oswald, Sharlene McMullin and Pat Morris.

The Business Women's League has one week to go but Ivan Berry's Hatchery has a nine game lead and the championship assured them. High games and series were bowled by Effie Mosier 496-191, Evelyn Miller 463, Ellen Lobaugh 481, Thelma Howie 460, Kay Cox 468 and 471, Pat Staples 475, Helen Oswald 489, Lillian Hamlin 472 and Ruth Johnson 186.

Demaret was almost flawless on and around the greens yesterday as he posted a 5-under-par 67 to take first money in the $20,000 Hot Springs open.

The dapper one, this time attired in a plain white shirt and not-so-plain pink trousers, spotted stogie young Mike Souchak of Grossinger's, N. Y., two strokes and 16 years as the final round got under way.

After 10 holes the 46-year-old Demaret was three strokes ahead. The Kiamasha Lake, N.Y., veteran seldom missed on putts of 10 feet or less and he dropped two iron shots within inches of the pin. When his irons faltered slightly on the somewhat tougher back nine, he made up for it by chipping near enough to one-putt for pars.

Demaret's 73-66-70-67 — 276, 12 strokes under par, beat Souchak and four others by one stroke. His 66 on the tricky, 7,000-yard Hot Springs country club course was the best of the tournament.

Bunched with Souchak, who had a final 70, were Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., the 1956 winner here who fired a 68, Lloyd Mangrum of Apple Valley, Calif., 68, Johnny Palmer of Tulsa, 67 and Jackie Burke of Kiamasha Lake, 68.

Youngsters Still Have Trouble With Golf Pro

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—The numerous talented youngsters who have flocked to professional golf in the past few years still have trouble with a sharp old pro like Jimmy Demaret.

Demaret was almost flawless on and around the greens yesterday as he posted a 5-under-par 67 to take first money in the $20,000 Hot Springs open.

'Fire' Trucks Riding High For Athletics

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Virgil O. (Fire) Trucks is riding high with the best won-lost record in the majors at the ripe baseball age of 38 and is a prime factor in the surprising showing of the Kansas City Athletics.

Trucks halted the Cleveland Indians without a run through the last three and two-thirds innings yesterday at Cleveland to get a 9-2 victory led by Hal Smith's grand slam home run. It was the fifth victory without a defeat for Trucks. The Tribe grabbed the second game, 7-3.

At St. Louis, Milwaukee's Braves returned gingerly to Busch Stadium where their pennant hopes were crushed last year and pocketed three victories in a four-game series with the St. Louis Cardinals over the weekend.

After the Cards and Braves split last Friday and Saturday's games, it looked as if the Wisconsin team might not be able to rub out the 1956 memories of losing two of a three-game series as the pennant hung in the balance.

But all was brushed aside Sunday as supple-wristed Hank Aaron and Lou Burdette were prime factors in a doubleheader sweep, 4-2, 10-4.

Aaron banged in five runs on two home runs and a single. Burdette choked off the Birds in the first game on six hits.

In the second contest the Cardinals sliced a 8-0 lead in half but Taylor Phillips came in and stopped them cold for five innings.

Mury Dickson and Herman Wehrer, two right-handed stalwarts of the Cardinals mound staff, were paddled before Hutchinson yanked them.

Don Blasingame, the tiny second baseman of the Cardinals, hit a home run in the second contest. Kansas City's Gus Zernial also homered in the first game off loser Durlly Wynn of Cleveland to lead off the fourth.

Trucks replaced Wally Burnette in the sixth with the bases full and one out, and stopped the Indians the rest of the way.

Trucks now has a sizzling 2.08 earned run average to go with his 5-0 record. In 21 2-3 innings, he has allowed only 12 hits, walked five and struck out 10.

Rocky Colavito drove in four runs for Cleveland in the nightcap, smashing a homer off Rip Coleman who replaced Rinold Dure. The Indians got 10 hits off four Kansas City pitchers.

Vic Power, A's first baseman, had 5-for-10 in the doubleheader, raising his average to .411, second in the American League only to Ted Williams. Lou Skizas had 3-for-5 and batted in two runs in the second game.

The second inning, got Tiger shortstop Harvey Kuenn to hit into an inning-ending double play and then faced only 23 batters—two over the minimum—for the next seven innings.

Bill Fischer Wins a Stay With Chisox

DETROIT (AP)—The victory that kept Chicago's go-go White Sox atop the American League standings also kept a 26-year-old rookie pitcher from going back to the minor leagues where he spent seven seasons.

Bill Fischer had one chance to show Manager Al Lopez whether he deserved to survive the club's final player cut. He responded with a 7 2-3 innings of air-tight relief pitching yesterday in Chicago's 5-4 triumph over the Detroit Tigers.

The victory, Fischer's first in the major leagues, earned the sinkerball specialist the right to remain with the Sox and kept the club a half-game ahead of the New York Yankees.

Lopez said he decided to give Fischer a try when Jack Harshman was belted out "because he was on the verge—I had to see about him, whether he could stick with the club, and this was about my only chance to get a look."

Although Fischer had pitched only three innings of big league baseball before yesterday, he said "I'd been around long enough to know where I stood with the club."

"I knew it was just about cut-down time," he said, "and I realized that what I did out there probably would decide whether I spent the year in the majors or in the bushes. So I had to do the job—but I didn't figure I'd pitch almost eight innings. I thought I'd be taken out for a pinch hitter."

Fischer said the home runs, two by Larry Doby that drove in four runs and one by Walt Dropo that accounted for the other, "were the prettiest homers I've ever seen."

Next to Last Week of Play

Tigers Nurse Frail Advantage Of 7 Points in Big 7 Battle

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Missouri Tigers nurse a frail advantage of seven percentage points as the Big Seven Conference baseball race goes into its next to last week of play.

Missouri's lead was trimmed by Nebraska last week at Columbia as the Cornhuskers won two games of the three-game set. It left the Tigers with a record of 9 victories and 5 defeats. Nebraska has won 7 and lost 4, the same mark boasted by Iowa State.

Also still figuring in the championship race are the Oklahoma Sooners, 5-4 and the Kansas Jayhawks, 6-5.

Iowa State, Oklahoma, Nebraska, Kansas and Colorado (3-7) each have six league games remaining on their schedule. Missouri and Kansas State (2-1) have only two apiece.

This week's schedule — a nine inning game on Friday and seven inning doubleheaders on Saturday — will match Oklahoma and Nebraska at Lincoln, Kansas and Iowa State at Ames, and Colorado and Kansas State at Manhattan.

Missouri will play a non-conference doubleheader with Washington University of St. Louis in Columbia Saturday.

In doubleheaders Saturday Missouri salvaged the second game from Nebraska, 5-2, as sophomore Don Miller recorded his sixth pitching success against no defeats. Nebraska won the opener 7-2 with a 6-run outburst in the second inning.

Home runs by Jim Chapman and Dan Peters powered Iowa State to a double win, 13-2 and 12-6 over Kansas State at Manhattan. Chapman homered twice in the first game. Peters hit a bases-loaded home run in the second tilt. Two sophomores gained pitching victories as Colorado and Oklahoma split a doubleheader at Boulder. Colorado won the first game 2-0 behind Joe Puleo's seven hit pitching. Oklahoma won the nightcap by the same score as Eddie Fisher threw a six-hitter.

Running with Bold Ruler will be Gough Thompson's Inswep and Mrs. Janon Fisher's Convey. There will be no betting on the Derby, which is an eighth of a mile shorter than the mile-and-three-sixteenths Preakness.

Iron Liege is the forgotten prospective starter in the Preakness. This situation will prevail until word is forthcoming on Gen. Duke. The impression is strong around Pimlico that trainer Jimmy Jones will decide—perhaps tomorrow—to keep Gen. Duke out of the Preakness as he did the Derby.

The fact that Iron Liege filled the Derby bill without help lends more weight to such a move. There doesn't seem to be much wrong with Gen. Duke's foot at present, but there's a lot of racing ahead including the triple crown climax, the Belmont Stakes next month.

Brian Aherne Plays Lead In Road Show

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—If an actor ever wanted security, Brian Aherne could have it. The veteran of stage and screen is heading the national company of "My Fair Lady." He could probably play Henry Higgins for a decade if he wished. "I've signed only for a year," he said. "They want me to stay beyond that, but we'll wait and see."

"It is a tremendously demanding role. I'm on stage nearly the whole show—once I have a 12-minute break and then I have to change clothes. It's exhausting work. I've found out I can't do anything else."

Audiences are large and enthusiastic. The show has already broken the house record in its first week. "It happens everywhere we go," Aherne said in wonderment.

In Detroit, they had to return $500,000 in cash from disappointed ticket seekers. We could probably run six months here and in San Francisco instead of 10 and six weeks."

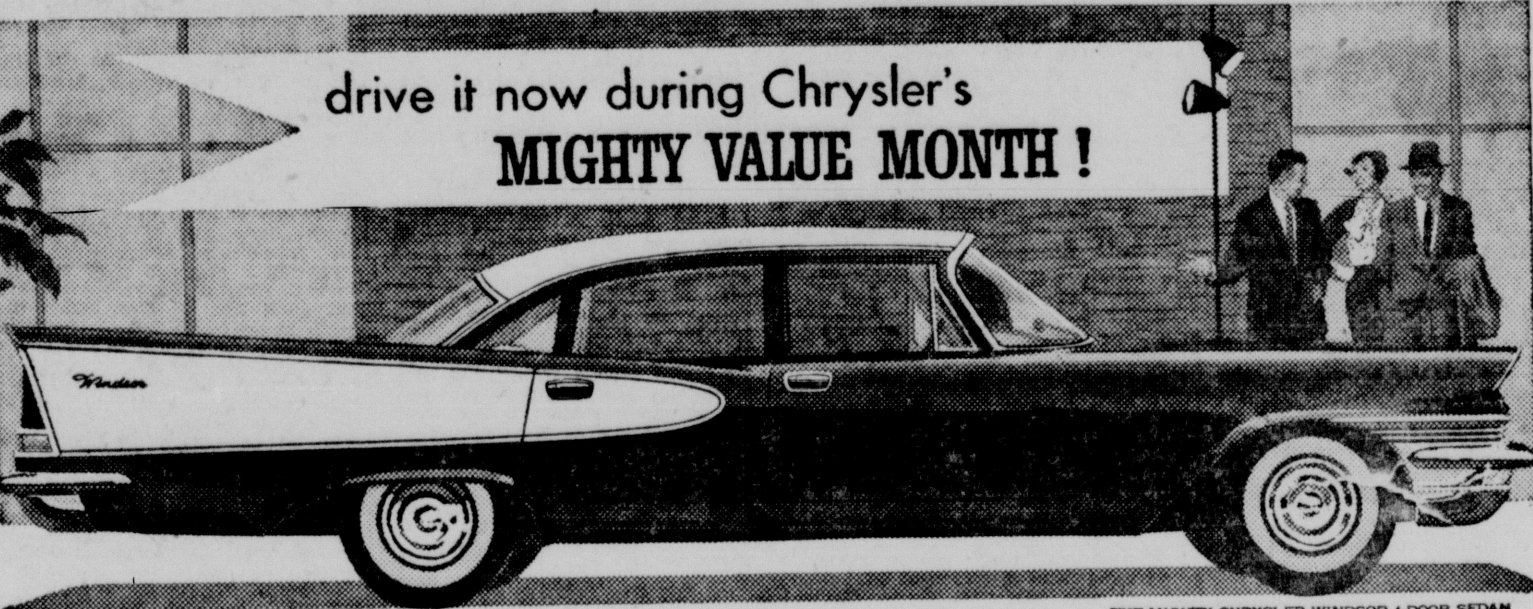

A chain of events started when he saw the show in New York. Librettist Alan Jay Lerner met him and suggested his playing in the national company. The idea seemed far-fetched to Aherne, since he had never been in a musical. The actor and his wife were vacationing in Munich when a cable came from producer Herman Levin. Would he consider the role? Still doubtful, Aherne said he'd talk about it when he returned to the United States.

He returned last fall, practiced a couple of the songs and sang them for Levin, Lerner, composer Frederick Loewe and director Moss Hart.

Four Persons Burn To Death in Crash Of Bus, Automobile

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Four persons were burned to death shortly before midnight last night after the collision of a Greyhound bus and a station wagon on the Ohio Turnpike 10 miles east of the Niles-Youngstown interchange.

The state highway patrol said the station wagon, bearing Pennsylvania license plates, burst into flames after it was struck from the rear by the bus. Both were eastbound.

The victims had not been identified early today, but the patrol said they included a man, woman and two children and apparently were members of the same family.

Officers said a few passengers on the bus, which was bound for Pittsburgh from Cleveland, were shaken up.

Both eastbound lanes of the pike were blocked temporarily, but officers had traffic moving in one lane a few minutes after the crash.

Bomb Blast Wrecks Home Of City Leader

WOBURN, Mass. (AP)—The blast from a homemade bomb early today wrecked part of the home of Everett J. Bixby, chairman of the City Licensing Commission and a prominent funeral director.

The blast knocked Bixby, his wife and their son Everett Jr., 19, from their beds on the second floor and wrecked the kitchen, pantry, rear hall and back porch.

The Bixby family was shaken up, but otherwise was not injured. Bixby, 53, said: "I can give no reason why anyone would do this to me. It's all a mystery."

Three hours after the explosion, police arrested Francis J. Smith, 36, and after about two hours of questioning booked him on a little-used charge of "malicious explosion."

Police identified him as a "known hoodlum" with a long police record including an arrest in New York City for carrying a machine gun.

Smith was nabbed in an outdoor telephone booth about 500 yards from the wrecked Bixby home.

Police said his legs were wet up to the knees "as though he had been running through the wet woods and scrubland."

They booked him after discounting his alibi that he was training as a long-distance runner.

Smith's expensive sedan was found parked about a mile from where he was taken into custody.

Group Wants Aid Continued At Less Cost

WASHINGTON (AP)—A special Senate committee says foreign aid should be continued, but at less cost to the American taxpayer.

Reporting on an intensive study of the mutual assistance program, the committee called for tighter coordination and streamlining of various foreign aid programs both to increase their effectiveness and to cut their cost.

Without suggesting any figure, the group said President Eisenhower should cut his aid requests below the revised $3,300,000,000 figure he approved last week.

On the other hand, the committee said it must be recognized that the United States "may be threatened by military attack," and cautioned against what it said would be "the adverse consequences in indiscriminate cuts in the safety and the international position of the United States."

The report was made public last night by the committee, composed of the Foreign Relations Committee plus chairmen and senior Republicans of the Armed Services and Appropriations committees.

It gave a general nod of approval to Eisenhower's suggestion for giving most economic aid in the form of loans rather than grants, but said there should be no "haste" in setting up a "permanent" fund for that purpose. Eisenhower has asked a three-year authorization, with 500 million dollars for the first year and 750 millions for each of the two succeeding years.

For both military and defense support aid, the committee said, Congress should continue "its annual review of military aid policy," to keep the programs within limits of both foreign needs and American capabilities.

AEC Continues Test Plans After Labor Dispute Is Settled

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Atomic Energy Commission scientists and newsmen today prepared for the scheduled start of the 1957 series of nuclear tests Thursday.

The AEC went ahead with plans after a labor dispute, which threatened to delay the first explosion, was settled late Saturday. Picket lines were removed, leaving the way clear for construction workers at the test site to return to work.

The dispute involved Teamsters Local 631 and the Reynolds Electrical and Engineering Co., primary contractor on test site construction projects.

A company spokesman had termed it a jurisdictional dispute between Teamsters and Electrical Workers, but union officials charged that the company had failed to live up to contract terms.

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Work has started on a tracking station near here for the earth satellite scheduled to be launched next summer as part of the 1958-59 International Geophysical Year research.

They will pick up satellite signals from a distance of 300 miles in space along a track 600 miles wide.

Army Chief Bows Out On Missiles

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's top-ranked soldier said he has bowed to an order giving the Air Force control over long-range missiles.

Gen. Maxwell Taylor, the Army chief of staff, made it clear yesterday he is taking no part in an Army-Air Force squabble growing out of the order by Secretary of Defense Wilson last November.

Taylor, questioned during a televised interview, said "Army spokesmen, including myself, defended before the secretary of defense last November the need for a 1,500-mile missile for the Army."

"We had our day in court, we argued our case and we lost it," he said. "So far as I am concerned, that settles the issue upon that point."

The Army chief said he did not try to outline his point of view to President Eisenhower. Taylor said Wilson was "a competent superior and I accepted his decision."

In his November order, Wilson specified that the Army should have responsibility for missiles with ranges of 200 miles or less. At the same time, he assigned the Air Force authority over longer-range weapons. These would include the intermediate range ballistic missile (IRBM), planned to travel 1,500 miles, and the intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM), which would have a 5,000-mile range.

Both the IRBM and the ICBM still are in the development stage, with the Army and Air Force competing to come up first with an operational weapon. Wilson's order permits the Army to continue its development work on the project.

Sen. Symington (D-Mo) said yesterday it will be a "good many years" before the United States has an arsenal of intercontinental missiles. Symington, a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee and a former Air Force secretary, said Russia is "well ahead" in the race to develop an operational IRBM. He said the two nations probably are "about even" in the ICBM contest.

Symington expressed his views on a separate TV program.

Crippled Woman Gets Train Ride After Man Sees Her Hitchhiking

KEENE, N. H. (AP)—A train ride was one of the nicest Mother's Day gifts crippled Mrs. Eva Lambert, 59, could have received. The train took her from Jacksonville, Fla., to Keene—a trip she had planned to make by hitchhiking in her wheel chair.

Mrs. Lambert, a victim of multiple sclerosis and heart trouble, was wheeling her chair 50 miles north of Jacksonville last week when she was spotted by James Woodhouse, 28.

She said her husband died three weeks ago and she was going back to Springfield, Vt., to sell the old family homestead.

Woodhouse bought the proud woman a train ticket and a white suitcase, crated her two dogs and a cat and pinned a corsage of flowers on her for the ride north.

She arrived at a friend's house here last night.

During her lifetime, Mrs. Lambert has cared for 26 foster children.

Meet at Gettysburg Farm

Ike and British Leader See Blunders In Civil War Fight

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—"Ike and "Monty" say they'd have done a lot of things differently than Lee and Meade if they'd been in command at the Battle of Gettysburg.

After prowling around the famed Civil War battleground, President Eisenhower and British Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery agreed both Confederate and Union commanders blundered in the 1863 engagement, and should have been fired.

The two World War II comrades, who led Allied forces to victory over the Nazis, second-guessed Southern Gen. Robert E. Lee and Northern Gen. George G. Meade during Montgomery's weekend stay at the Eisenhower farm, on the edge of the battlefield.

The old friends reached another parting today. Eisenhower planned to stay on at his farm through dinnertime. Montgomery, now deputy commander of NATO forces in Europe, was due back in Washington for conferences at the Pentagon.

In sum, Eisenhower and Montgomery agreed both sides could have used their cavalry more effectively, that Southern forces should have tried an end run around the North's left flank, and that the charge of Gen. George Pickett's brigade into the muzzles of Yankee cannon was a grave mistake. Montgomery called that charge "monstrous."

But Eisenhower wasn't joining Montgomery in pronouncing Lee a worse commander at Gettysburg than Meade.

Montgomery can talk about it, Eisenhower said, but "look, I live here. I represent both the North and the South."

From the South came at least one indignant protest and a defense, not only of Lee, but of Meade as well.

Mrs. John L. Harper of Atlanta said the Eisenhower-Montgomery agreement that the two generals should have been "sacked" was "a very uncouth statement."

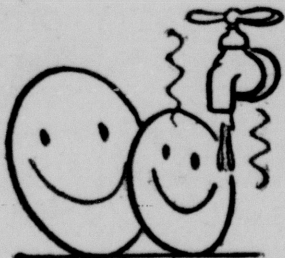

Mrs. Harper is president of a women's group which has been decorating the graves of Confederate dead for more than 90 years. In Hickory, N. C., Bell I. Wiley, an Emory University historian and author, said: "If you fired them who would you replace them with? Lee was Lee, and Meade, at the time, seemed to be the best man for the job. . . ."
